“Safety Culture Excellence®” Podcast Celebrates Fifteen Years of Positive Impact to Safety Cultures Worldwide

Popular and longest-running safety podcast series celebrates 15 years with a special episode including ProAct Safety founder Terry Mathis.

(Houston, TX – January 11, 2023) This month, ProAct Safety, a recognized pioneer of safety excellence strategies, marks fifteen full years of distributing the weekly safety industry audio and video podcast series, “Safety Culture Excellence.” 735 episodes have aired since its inception in January 2008.

“We are honored to advise companies and organizations considered the best of the best in safety throughout the world,” said Shawn M. Galloway, ProAct Safety CEO. “The podcast is a tool to help organizations continually think about and understand influences on safety performance and occupational culture, so they can make changes that sustainably impact their organizations.”

Interestingly, the most listened-to episode of 2021 is podcast #717: Safe vs. Legal.

Episode 740, released on 9 January 2023, is a special 15th anniversary edition where Shawn Galloway interviews Founder and retired ProAct Safety CEO, Terry Mathis and discusses past and future trends in the safety industry.

“In today’s world, podcasts are becoming an indispensable communication tool for safety,” said Mathis. “They are a way to reach isolated workers or workers on divergent schedules as well as a way for experts to reach safety professionals. Shawn Galloway pioneered the use of podcasts for safety over 15 years ago and continues to provide excellent safety material in this format. This edition is a reflection of how this podcast began and those who have contributed content to it.”
