ProAct Safety's Founder to Present at Intelex Virtual Event

Terry Mathis discusses the common failures of processes and the overlap between safety and quality.

(The Woodlands, TX – January 12, 2021) ProAct Safety, a recognized pioneer of safety excellence strategies, announced its founder and CEO, Terry L. Mathis, will lead a live virtual event on Tuesday, January 12th at 1:00PM CST for Intelex Technologies ULC. More details are available at <https://www.intelex.com/about/events/webinar-tolerance-failure>.

Mathis' session, "A Tolerance for Failure: How to Avoid Excellence," will outline some issues with typical organizations that tend to compromise their goals for quality and safety. Mathis led project teams in both quality and safety improvement in his corporate career and continued to work on these issues with his clients in his own company which is not 27 years old. His practical but powerful approaches to the issues has gained him a reputation for success and partnering closely with his client organizations.

Sandy Smith, Global Content Leader with Intelex, says "At no period in time has it been more important for functions such as production, quality and safety to work together to create resilient organizations and promote success. Terry's practical insight and unique ability to introduce new perspectives that lead to real change make him uniquely qualified to guide organizations in reducing failure and promoting excellence. We are excited that he will share his perspective with the audience of Quality Digest."
