Terry L. Mathis of ProAct Safety Named one of EHS Today's 50 Most Influential People of 2014 – 2015

For the fourth consecutive year, Terry L. Mathis, CEO of ProAct Safety, was named one of the safety industry's most influential people for 2014-2015.

(The Woodlands, TX – June 23, 2015) Terry L. Mathis, founder and CEO of ProAct Safety, a recognized pioneer of leadership and safety excellence strategies, was named one of "The 50 People Who Most Influenced EHS in 2014 – 2015" by EHS Today magazine. It is the fourth consecutive year Mathis has been included on the magazine's annual list.

"Mathis has been a regular contributor to EHS Today for several years, often garnering more comments and kudos from readers than any other author, including EHS Today editors," said Sandy Smith, editor-in-chief.

Mathis is an internationally recognized expert of safety culture and performance excellence. "I'm honored to receive this recognition and pleased I can help companies and their safety professionals through the articles in EHS Today," Mathis said. "It's important to get the word out that safety is no longer just about quotas and incentives. It's about using proven strategies to create a culture that supports the entire organization and, in the process, achieves a superior level of safety. Thank you to EHS Today for making this crucial information available to those who need it."
